

Without Prejudice

Lawyers, enrol with CSSA and join SA's governance professionals!

“A legal qualification coupled with CSSA membership equates to professional mastery, that enables governance professionals to provide corporate governance guidance and leadership in complex business environments.

A solid understanding of the legislative framework ensures governance best practices become the norm.”

Nonpumelelo Nene, Company Secretary, National Lotteries Commission, ACIS, B Com, LLB

- There are natural synergies between the work that lawyers do and that of company secretaries. If you're working in law and are looking to broaden your horizons, then becoming a Chartered Secretary is the next step.
- CSSA is the international qualifying and membership body for the Company Secretary profession and a recognised authority on corporate governance in Southern Africa.
- Obtaining the globally recognised qualification (which is registered on NQF level 8/Honours) is a fast-track way of reaching the boardroom and becoming part of the senior executive team.
- If you have a degree, you only need to write the 4 board subjects: Corporate Governance; Corporate Financial Management; Corporate Secretaryship and Corporate Administration.
- Enhance your professional identity and join a century old professional body.

Graduate (GSM/ISA) Associate (ACIS) Fellow (FCIS)

www.charsec.co.za Corporate Governance Excellence

Without Prejudice

Chartered Secretary

Learn more with CSSA and get 50% government contribution

Choose CSSA for a career in Corporate Governance and it has opened many doors for me.
— Michelle Brown, Senior Corporate Governance Risk and Control

- I have an excellent employer because the role has a broad scope of corporate governance issues. I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.
- I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.

Corporate Governance Excellence

Without Prejudice – April 2015

Chartered Secretary

Learn more with CSSA and get 50% government contribution

I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.
— Michelle Brown, Senior Corporate Governance Risk and Control

- I have an excellent employer because the role has a broad scope of corporate governance issues. I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.
- I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.

Corporate Governance Excellence

Without Prejudice (May 2015) and Boardroom (Quarter 1)

Chartered Secretary

Learn more with CSSA and get 50% government contribution

A legal qualification is an excellent basis to move into the challenging field of company secretarialship. Being a company secretary takes you into the heart of the corporation and offers you an opportunity to make a real difference in a wide variety of disciplines.
— Michelle Brown, Senior Corporate Governance Risk and Control

- I have an excellent employer because the role has a broad scope of corporate governance issues. I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.
- I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.

Corporate Governance Excellence

CSSA General campaign - Law

Chartered Secretary

Learn more with CSSA and get 50% government contribution

The broad nature of the CSSA offering means that you have an opportunity to enjoy a broad understanding of what the company secretaries' role has to offer in fulfilling their roles. A company secretary is exposed to every facet of a business and must be adequately prepared to deal with a wide range of issues.
— Michelle Brown, Senior Corporate Governance Risk and Control

- I have an excellent employer because the role has a broad scope of corporate governance issues. I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.
- I have a passion for corporate law, and it was a natural progression to specialise in corporate governance by becoming a Chartered Secretary to complement my legal qualifications. Corporate governance is an interesting and ever-evolving field.

Corporate Governance Excellence

CSSA General campaign - Law